

AMERICANS BATTLE WITH MEXICAN NATIVES

TROOPERS OF SEVENTH FIRED UPON AT PARRAL

CARRANZA GARRISON TAKES DOUBTFUL PART IN THE AFFRAY

Detachment is Pursued to Suburbs and Attacked During the Night—Report States One American Was Killed—Carranza Urges Withdrawal of Expedition—Troops Increase Vigilance Against Attack.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—American troops in Mexico have had their first battle with the natives at the moment General Carranza is urging their withdrawal.

On Wednesday night while General Carranza's note was on its way to Washington, troopers of the Seventh cavalry under Major Tompkins were fired upon in Parral, a Villa stronghold, in western Chihuahua, were pursued to the suburbs while the Carranza garrison took a doubtful part in the affray, and were attacked again during the night.

Report One American Killed. Complete information regarding the losses to the American troops or to the Mexicans had not reached Washington tonight. Secretary Baker informed President Wilson that a brief dispatch to the war department said that according to unofficial reports, one American cavalryman was killed and that the troopers used a machine gun against the Mexicans.

Mr. Baker announced later that he had ordered General Funston to take any steps that might be necessary to prevent further trouble. When asked whether this might mean the enforced use of Mexican railroads for the movement of soldiers and supplies, he said General Funston was on the ground and would act as any emergency required. The secretary expressed the hope, however, that the trouble at Parral was purely local and did not presage further difficulties.

General Carranza, directing his embassy here to point out that the clash proved his contention that the presence of American troops in Mexico is leading to a situation which threatens to go beyond his control, telegraphed that "many deaths had occurred on both sides."

Foreign Minister Aguilar, in a dispatch sent before that of General Carranza, said one American trooper was killed and several civilians were wounded. Consul Garcia, the Carranza agent at El Paso, wired the embassy that "several persons were killed on both sides."

His dispatch added that when the American troops entered Parral the "people protested and it appears the garrison did also."

Contradicts Carranza Dispatches. This latter statement is in direct contradiction to the dispatches of Carranza and Aguilar which declared the Carranza troops attempted to hold back the Mexican mobs. A report to the state department from Consul Fletcher at Chihuahua forwarded thru General Funston said there had been "some trouble" at Parral when the American column was fired upon by Mexican civilians.

The state and war departments, receiving from the Mexican embassy their first information that the clash had been a serious one, at once sent out orders for a full report. It had not been received tonight.

Upon President Wilson rests the decision of what the effect of the attack upon the administration's Mexican policy shall be; whether it shall have a bearing on consideration of Carranza's proposal for the withdrawal of the troops and finally whether Carranza's proposal shall be accepted, rejected or negotiated. Members of his official family indicated tonight that it practically was certain no immediate order for withdrawal of the expedition seeking Villa would be given. The subject will be laid before the cabinet tomorrow.

Wilson Cancels Engagement. Because of the serious turn in the Mexican situation and the gravity of the submarine issue with Germany, the president cancelled an engagement to go to New York tomorrow night and speak there Saturday night. Congress will not have opportunity to show its feelings until it meets at noon tomorrow. News of the attack on American troops reached the capital too late for the senate or house to hear about it before they adjourned for the day.

Carranza's proposal for the withdrawal of the expedition however, seemed to meet the general sentiment that the administration should be left free to handle the situation for the present. Whether the attack on troops will alter that view remains for tomorrow's developments.

Tonight the situation of the isolated detachment is the cause of some anxiety. Outnumbered and possibly beleaguered in a neighborhood notoriously anti-American, how far from reinforcements no one here knows, the troopers may be in grave danger which only the thin and uncertain lines of communication from the advanced bases of the American army in Mexico can tell.

The secretary declined to state whether General Pershing had orders to keep his troops out of Mexican towns in the future. He pointed out that when the expedition reached Casas Grandes the question arose with the de facto government as to the "occupation" of any Mexican towns by the American troops and orders were given not to occupy any town. Mr. Baker indicated, however, that these orders did not preclude the American troops from passing thru such when necessary and that he did not consider that the entry of 150 soldiers into Parral with its 15,000 inhabitants could be construed as an "occupation."

General Funston made clear in his dispatches that Parral is so physically situated that it is difficult to pass around it and almost necessary to pass thru it to proceed south. That probably was responsible for the cavalrymen entering the town, and officials noted that all the Mexican reports agreed that they retired at once when the local officials protested against their presence. The war department investigation will clear up how they came to enter.

Troops Increase Vigilance.

San Antonio, Texas, April 13.—From Columbus, N. M., to points near the Chihuahua-Durango state line, American troops increased their vigilance today against attacks from any quarter. Word that Carranza had requested the opening of negotiations looking to their withdrawal went up and down the line of communications and forward to the camps of the detached cavalry columns that have penetrated the hills and mountains beyond Parral in their search for Villa. No official communication went to them and will not until the war department has communicated the news and its wishes to General Funston, but orders have been sent from here to take all precautions against attack by any organization, whether that of Francisco Villa or not.

General Funston received no report from General Pershing regarding the reported Parral incident and late tonight he knew no more of that development than was contained in the report sent forward by Consul Fletcher from Chihuahua and that given in press despatches from Washington. His information from Consul Fletcher indicated that both garrisons and populace had fired upon the detachments of 140 American troops when they entered Parral and that the fire had been returned.

Conflict is Regretted

It was assumed that the commanding officer of the American detachment was Major Tompkins, who, it was believed might be having difficulties in getting his report of the incident back to General Pershing. Major Tompkins had with him no field wireless and a courier would have been necessary for the transmission of his report. That a conflict between American troops and Mexicans, other than those of Villa's organization had occurred, was regretted at headquarters, but confidence was expressed in the ability of the commander of the detachment that entered Parral to explain the incident satisfactorily.

All officers in the expeditionary columns have been cautioned not to provoke conflict with peaceful residents of Mexico or with troops of the de facto government and officers at headquarters do not believe that the incident at Parral will alter the attitude of the men in the field.

Officers here are confident that

LORIMER TESTIFIES IN HIS OWN BEHALF

FORMER SENATOR'S STORY IS EXPECTED TO OCCUPY SEVERAL DAYS

Witness States that Antagonism of Chicago Newspapers, Particularly the Tribune, Lay at the Root of His Troubles in the Senate and at the Bank.

Chicago, April 13.—William Lorimer, who is being tried on charges of embezzlement and conspiracy, growing out of the failure of his bank, the LaSalle Street Trust & Savings, testified in his own behalf today. His story will be resumed tomorrow and is expected to occupy several days.

From earlier witnesses, including business and political friends and two depositors who lost money in the failure, it appeared that Mr. Lorimer was a faithful husband and father, and that "his word was as good as his bond."

Among these witnesses was Mrs. H. O. Spogle, wife of a city official, who forty years ago was Mr. Lorimer's Sunday school teacher and who finding him brighter than other urchins of the neighborhood, instructed him in the Three R's. She told of how he blacked boots and sold newspapers to support his mother, an invalid.

Later Mr. Lorimer is expected to relate much of his autobiography as he did while unsuccessfully defending his seat in the United States senate.

Mr. Lorimer said that antagonism of the Chicago newspapers, particularly the Tribune, lay at the root of his troubles in the senate and at the bank.

"They have fought me for twenty five years because I would not do their bidding," said Mr. Lorimer. "They have not changed now, unless for the worse."

When the proposition of starting a bank was put to Mr. Lorimer by C. B. Munday, witness said that it was thought his wide acquaintance would enable him to build up a big business. He wanted to establish it as a business for his two sons.

At that time witness said he was worth between $450,000 and $550,000 and he intended to buy about $125,000 worth of stock in the bank.

In 1910 on the day announcement was made of the bank, the Tribune printed a story by Charles White, a former state representative, stating that he had been paid $10,000 for his vote to send Mr. Lorimer to the senate.

"I knew I would need all my time and much money to fight this charge as I determined at once to demand an investigation by the senate. I was busy for months after with the fight, having little time for the bank. The publication of the story caused many subscribers to withdraw their subscriptions and a man we had in mind as bank manager became frightened. So we determined to bring Mr. Munday to Chicago as managing vice-president. Mr. Munday and my friends arranged to carry 500 shares of bank stock for me with the idea that it would pay for itself."

"It had been intended" continued the witness, "to open a national and a state bank, but publication of the White charges caused us for the time being to abandon the state bank proposition."

LATEST RETURNS INDICATE ELECTION OF CLARK OVER STUTTLE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 13.—Latest returns accredited as official from the four counties of the twenty-first congressional district indicate the re-election of W. M. Clark of Palmer to the Democratic state central committee by a majority of 153 votes over Harry C. Stuttle of Litchfield who was first announced winner.

The official majority of James E. McClure of Carlinville, as Republican state committee member over Lewis E. Miner of Springfield is given at 258 votes. Miner was a candidate for re-election.

TWENTY-ONE WESTERN UNION MANAGERS MEET IN CEDAR RAPIDS

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, April 13.—Twenty-one Western Union managers from western Illinois and eastern Iowa, the region included in District No. 1, met in Cedar Rapids Thursday under the supervision of A. B. Cowan of Chicago, district commercial superintendent, who presided over the meeting held in the morning. Commercial Agent Serfas conducted the afternoon session.

The object of the gathering was to promote the interests of the Western Union and to discuss ways and means for better service. It was decided to hold a similar meeting in Cedar Rapids at least once a year and often if possible. All arrangements for the meeting were made by H. F. White, local manager of the Western Union, who acted in the capacity of host.

CONSIDER RISE IN PRICE OF GASOLINE

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE TAKES UP MATTER

Attempt to Determine Whether Prosecutions can be Brought Under the Law as It Stands or Whether Additional Legislation Will be Required.

Washington, April 13.—Evidence relating to the rise in gasoline is being considered by the department of justice with a view, it is understood, to determine if prosecution can be brought under the law as it stands or whether additional legislation will be required.

Attorney General Gregory declined today to give the senate the information sought in the Kenyon resolution regarding the results of an investigation of the working of the supreme court's Standard Oil decree on the ground that to do so would be incompatible with the public interest. This development and the re-appearance of Charles B. Morrison of Chicago in connection with the case strengthened the belief in some quarters that the department had not finished its investigation and gave rise to the report that department officials had requested Mr. Morrison to look into the gasoline situation with a view to further prosecutions.

Mr. Morrison is thoroughly familiar with the Standard Oil litigation and aided the department in the prosecution of the dissolution suit.

It is understood department officials are in doubt as to whether prosecutions under the present law could be successfully carried out in view of the dissolution decree. What is regarded as a fundamental defect in the decree is the provision which permitted the original owners of the oil trust to retain ownership of the various companies into which the combine was split up. New legislation to correct this situation may be sought.

The investigation conducted by the department in co-operation with the federal trade commission has disclosed a wide variation in prices in the east and middle west. Whether a discriminatory scale of prices was maintained, under which it would be impossible for gasoline to flow freely from the mid-continent field of production into the middle west, has been under investigation.

In some places it is said the line of demarcation in prices was sharply drawn, notably on the Ohio river. On the north bank of the river the investigation is said to disclose prices were two cents per gallon higher at one time than on the south side a mile or so away.

Variances in prices between New York and Chicago is said to have been as much as five and one half cents a gallon at one time, while in New England, New York and parts of Pennsylvania the rate was appreciably higher than in the middle west.

STATES SETTLEMENT WITH BRITISH GOVERNMENT IS AGREED UPON

LONDON, April 13.—Chandler P. Anderson, formerly counsellor of the state department at Washington and now the representative of the Chicago meat packers in the prize court cases involving cargoes valued at between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000, stated tonight that a settlement with the British government had been agreed upon and that the money would be paid over tomorrow.

"I wish," said Mr. Anderson, "to express my appreciation for the fairness with which the negotiations with the representatives of the British government have been conducted and the friendly consideration with which I and my clients have been treated."

Mr. Anderson represents the Armour, Swift, Hammond and Morris companies. B. Lloyd Griscomb, representing the Schwarzschild and Sulzberger company also joined in the settlement on the same basis as Mr. Anderson.

ARREST WIRE THIEVES.

Quincy, Ill., April 13.—When telephone trouble hunters went out along the country lines in Lewis and Clark counties in Missouri, this morning to find why subscribers were unable to find secure connections, they found much of the copper wire missing. Officers from Quincy intercepted three men in West Quincy Mo., coming to this city with about 1,000 pounds of wire. They denied the theft until the officers pointed out to them that they had forgotten to remove their steel climbing spurs.

DEMAND INCREASE IN NAVY.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—A National defense commission a navy general staff and an immediate increase in the navy were demanded in resolutions adopted here today at the final meeting of the annual convention of the navy league of the United States. Officers of the League were instructed to urge congress to enact the necessary legislation.

ENGLAND ANSWERS AMERICAN PROTEST

Asserts Care Will Be Taken to Avoid Injury to Neutral Commerce

Berlin Reports Unfavorable Weather Hinders Operations on Western Front

FIVE SHIPS MEET DISASTER

With an abatement in the battle that has been in progress for nearly two months before Verdun and comparative quietude reigning in all the other war theaters, diplomatic issues growing out of the war are prominently to the fore in the news of the day.

Great Britain has replied to the American protest against the clause in her "trading with the enemy act" which prevents trading with any business firm that has affiliations with or is controlled by subjects of enemy countries. The note asserts that the act is being enforced to restrict activities and trade of persons under British jurisdiction and that care will be taken to avoid injury to neutral commerce.

Settle Meat Packers' Cases.

The cases of the Chicago meat packers against Great Britain for the holding up of cargoes, valued at many millions of dollars, destined for neutral ports have been amicably settled by representatives of the meat packers and the British government. Great Britain will pay for the seized cargoes.

Before Verdun the infantry has remained inactive and only in the sectors to the northwest, embracing Hill 394 and the front from LeMort Homme to Cumieres, has there been heavy work by the artillery.

The Germans in the Lake Narocz and Ikskul bridgehead positions on the Russian front have made attempts to advance against the Russians after preparatory bombardments. In each instance, according to Petrograd they were repulsed. Near Baranovich, the Russian infantry essayed an attack on the Germans but were driven back.

On the Austro-Italian line the usual bombardments and infantry attacks at various points continue.

Turks Deliver Attacks.

In Asiatic Turkey the Turks have delivered powerful counter attacks in the Caucasus region against important positions recently captured from them by the Russians. Their attempts failed, according to Petrograd.

Five additional vessels have met with disaster as a result of mines or submarines. The British Steamers Robert Adamson and Angus and the British bark Inverlyon have been sunk by a mine and the Dutch Steamer Colombia damaged by a mine.

Describes Act as Purely Domestic.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Great Britain's reply to the American note protesting against the trading with the enemy act as "pregnant with possibilities of undue interference with American trade," describes the act as "purely domestic legislation to restrict the activities and trade of persons under British jurisdiction" and assures the United States that in its enforcement every care will be exercised to avoid injury to neutral commerce. The act, approved last December, is designed to prevent British subjects from trading with any business firm which has business connections with or is controlled in any part by Great Britain's enemies.

In its protest presented to the British foreign office January 28th, by Ambassador Page, the United States expressed the opinion that the regulations had been framed without a proper regard for the rights of persons domiciled in the United States to carry on trade with persons in belligerent countries, and make a formal reservation of the right to contest its legality should it be found that American trade was hampered.

PRESIDENT DELIVERS ADDRESS.

Washington, April 13.—President Wilson, speaking at a Jefferson Day banquet of Democrats from all parts of the country here tonight, prayed that the United States would not be drawn into a quarrel not of its own choosing, but asked if the people were ready to go in where the interests of America were coincident with the interests of humanity and have the courage to withdraw when the interests of humanity had been conserved. He was interrupted by cheers and shouts of "yes."

END GENERAL DEBATE ON ARMY INCREASE BILL

SENATOR STONE MAKES PLEA FOR LARGE NAVY

Agitation for Greater Navy at Expense of Army Increases Marks Debate—Stone Criticizes Both England and Germany.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Agitation for a greater navy at the expense of army increases marked the last day of general debate in the senate today on the army reorganization bill. Senator Stone, chairman of the foreign relations committee, made a plea for a navy big enough to fight offensively on the high seas, to defend American rights anywhere in the world and Senator Borah on the Republican side urged that the federal volunteer and national guard provisions of the Chamberlain bill both be sacrificed in order to add to the extension of the country's naval forces.

In the course of his speech, Senator Stone criticized both Great Britain and Germany. He declared they were equally guilty of offenses against the peace and well-being of mankind, the former because of its policy of "navalism" and the latter because of its "militarism."

While he deplored any program that could be construed as either navalism or militarism in the United States, the Missouri senator said he was for adequate defense and thought the navy was by far more important than the army. Both Senators Stone and Borah advocated a reasonable standing army. When asked if he thought the United States had an adequate force in case unpleasantness should follow developments in Mexico the former said he thought an adequate force speedily could be procured for an emergency.

Senator Borah was emphatic in his championship of the navy, not only as the first line of national defense but also as the last line of defense.

"I regret," said the senator, "that the naval bill was not considered by the senate before we reached the army bill so that we might have a saner, more wholesome view of a program for defense than we have now. We ought to have begun with the first line of defense. The navy not only is our first line of defense but in a large measure it is the last line for this country."

"If we would strengthen our navy the American people would accept the preparedness program with more confidence than they will a large land military program."

"The volunteer army and national guard provisions of this army measure make it 95 per cent appropriations and five per cent preparedness."

"I would take out of the bill the volunteer army and the national guard and put millions to be expended for those purposes into military education in the schools, colleges and universities of the country or add it to the appropriations for extending the navy, the first line of defense."

"In the time of real peril, I would enforce compulsory service in this country."

Senators Tillman, Smith of Georgia, and Owen supported the amendments of Senators Smith of South Carolina and Underwood of Alabama to provide for government nitrate plants to furnish materials for the manufacture of explosives. The senate failed to reach a vote on the nitrate amendments tonight and beginning tomorrow the ten minute rule on debate will be enforced until Tuesday afternoon when the senate by agreement must begin to vote on all amendments and final passage of the bill.

SHANGHAI—Three leaders of the revolutionary forces in Kwang-Tung province were assassinated and several others were wounded yesterday during a military conference at Canton, capital of the province.

BERLIN, by wireless to Sayville.—The French losses in killed and wounded in the fighting around Verdun, says the Overseas News agency, are computed to have reached up to the present time a total of 150,000 officers and men, or about four army corps.

QUINCY, Ill.—Freeman Dorse of the Soldiers and Sailors' Home here celebrated his 107th birthday. He is still active, coming to the city two or three times a week. He entered the home in 1893, coming from Keithsburg, Ill.

CHICAGO, April 13.—Mrs. Taate Schuetter, 83 years old, was found dead in her home in Blue Island, a suburb, and in an unguarded bureau drawer was found $9000 in cash and $65,000 in bonds.

Decatur, Ill., April 13.—Henry P. Harris, Monticello, was elected Republican state central committeeman over Charles P. Eckert, Tuscola, in the nineteenth congressional district. Official returns from six out of eight counties gave Harris 2,769 to Eckert's 1,134.

WILSON EXAMINES GERMANY'S REPLY

U. S. Believes Germany Virtually Admits Guilt of U-Boat Commander

CIRCUMSTANCES SIMILAR

Expect Details of Policy to Be Pursued to Be Formulated at Cabinet Meeting

CONSIDER CASE IS STRONGER

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The United States is disposed to consider that Germany in the latest submarine note virtually has admitted one of her submarine commanders is guilty of torpedoing the channel steamer Sussex. President Wilson and Secretary Lansing today examined the official text of the communication from Berlin and are understood to have reached this conclusion altho no announcement was made.

Unless Germany should without equivocation admit attacking the vessel, which had aboard more than a score of American citizens, inflict adequate punishment upon the commander of the submarine and in other ways show evidence of good faith, action of a drastic measure undoubtedly will follow. Details of the policy to be pursued are expected to be formulated at the meeting of the cabinet tomorrow.

The assumption of Germany's admission of guilt is founded upon the marked similarity of the circumstances surrounding the explosion which damaged the Sussex and the attack upon a steamer in the channel described in the German note. The date, time and locations are practically the same. The damage done by the torpedo fired by the submarine and the explosion which wrecked the Sussex are identical. The course being followed by the Sussex and vessel mentioned in the note are similar.

Following the receipt recently of press dispatches announcing that the German government flatly denied responsibility for the explosion which damaged the Sussex, it was believed the case the United States was preparing against German submarine warfare would have to be upon the accumulation of illegal attacks rather than largely upon the disaster to the channel steamer. It now being revealed upon just what contentions and arguments Germany based her denial of responsibility, the administration considers that the case of the Sussex is stronger than ever. Secretary Lansing today had nearly completed the collection of evidence in regard to the conduct of the submarine warfare since the Lusitania went down. A statement of facts, it was said, probably will be ready to be brought to the attention of the German government within the next few days.

The German proposal for a mixed commission to determine the facts in case of a difference of opinion between Germany and the United States is regarded here with interest.

The administration does not consider, however, that there is any real controversy over the facts. Additional affidavits and information in regard to the Sussex attack are expected to arrive on the liner St. Paul due in New York tomorrow. It is hoped the documents may be received in time for consideration by the cabinet.

Statements in cabled press dispatches from Paris to the effect that the French government was in possession of documents which give the name of the commander and the number of the submarine which damaged the Sussex were communicated to officials and were read with much interest.

Impure Milk a Great Factor in Ill Health.

The United States Public Health Service has recently compiled figures to show some of the ill effects of impure milk. Seventy-six out of eighty seven cases of typhoid fever which occurred in a recent outbreak have been traced to infected milk. Had the first cases been reported to a trained health officer the outbreak could have been stamped out promptly. When will we learn that disease prevention is sure and cheap?

Sherman Candidacy Looks Larger.

Washington dispatches show that the endorsement given to Senator Sherman in the Illinois primary has brought the Sherman candidacy much more strongly into the limelight. Friends of the senator also see in the result the possibility of a new party organization in the state. With various factions at war, they point out that the Sherman leaders can perfect an organization along new lines and in a way which will be likely to settle party affairs in the state in a satisfactory way. The Sherman organization, in other words, is credited with holding the balance of power under present conditions.

Harlan's Defeat.

It is the commonly accepted opinion that the chances of John M. Harlan, an avowed Roosevelt candidate for delegate to the national convention, had for election were materially affected by the fact that Colonel Roosevelt would not permit his name to go on the primary ballot. Four years ago the colonel was rampant for a presidential preference primary as a means for "purifying" state politics and giving the people a "real chance" to express their views. Then when he insisted that the name should be kept off the ballot, the majority of voters thought his course too inconsistent to merit their approval.

SPORTS

I watch the young men sporting, and tussling and cavorting, at divers manly games, at wrestling, Greek and Cornish, and boxing bouts this mornin', until they break their haines. It gives them satisfaction to get their forms in action, to strain their bodies and thews; life in their veins is bubbling, no "rheumatiz" is troubling the fest that fill their shoes. They have no gout or glanders, ring-bones or yaller janders, no spavins on their joints; if vagrant pain should hit them, they merely bid it quit them, and promptly it aoints. I see them strive and tussle, exerting every muscle—they call such horse-play fun; and in the shade I'm sitting, a-weeping on my knittin'; my active days are done. My joints are stiff and rusty, my whiskers gray and dusty. I creek when'er I walk, and you may hear me sighing when I am trying to drill around a block. DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

of national banks have increased twenty per cent within a year, and deposits have shown a still greater increase. Only a year or two ago the cry was that the extensive ownership of automobiles was the primary cause for hard times because people were spending the money for cars which should go into the usual channels of business.

But now the people have both cars and money and it might just as well be recognized that the prosperous conditions present a much more difficult problem for the Republican party to meet than would be true if the wheels of industry were at a stand still and unemployment was the rule. While it can be proven conclusively that prosperous conditions are the result of good crops and war orders, it's more difficult to get the people to vote for a change in prosperous times than when everybody is feeling poor.

The New York Tribune which four years ago was strongly opposed to Colonel Roosevelt, is now supporting him for the presidential nomination. The Tribune all along has preferred Senator Root and is very favorably disposed toward Justice Hughes, but believing that neither of these candidates is now available, is strong for the former president. The Tribune joins in the sentiment expressed by Colonel Roosevelt in a recent statement in declaring that the times require some man who will not "pussy foot" and the colonel is characterized as personifying that ideal.

POLITICAL GOSSIP.

As a result of the election Tuesday Chicago politics are in more of a muddled condition than before if that be possible. While Mayor Thompson suffered defeat in his battle for control of the county committee, this organization is also understood to be anti-Deneen. In some quarters the situation is looked upon as especially favorable for a "reorganization" which might place the younger Republicans known as "neutrals" in control.

The situation also seems to indicate that neither Thompson nor West will be chosen national committeeman and that a compromise candidate is exceedingly likely. Mention has frequently been made of Fred W. Upham for this position. He is a national figure in politics and has not been aligned with any faction in an especially offensive way, and in addition is a man of wealth. A national committeeman's job is one for a rich man as a large amount of personal expenditure is necessary.

As a result of the situation it is possible too, that there may be an alliance between the Brundage and Deneen forces in the effort to nominate a candidate for the governorship. In many points the Brundage-Deneen forces are diametrically opposed but an alliance for some common end is not at all out of the question. Politicians in order to make the best of the situation which they cannot control alone are frequently forced into alliances which are personally distasteful to them.

Colonel Lowden's campaign for the governorship is now a fact. His formal announcement caused no surprise, for it has been common knowledge that his organization work has been going on for some months. Colonel Lowden's campaign manager is W. H. Stead, former attorney general of the state, and headquarters have been opened in Chicago. In his announcement Colonel Lowden says, "I shall make a vigorous campaign, free from personal abuse, and in public speeches and statements will let the voters know my views pertaining to state government."

The victory which Andrew Russel won in the twentieth congressional district election Tuesday brought his name into special prominence in the talk about the governorship. Chicago papers yesterday all expressed the view that Mr. Russel's formal announcement of his candidacy would come within a few days. Yesterday Mr. Russel answered those who asked him about his candidacy with a frank statement that he expects to "have his hat in the ring," but that no formal statement would come until a later date.

PROBLEMS OF CHILDHOOD THEME AT PARENT-TEACHERS' MEETING

Rev. M. L. Pontius Gives Enlightening Address at Franklin School—Suggests Educational Needs.

Members of the Parent-Teachers' association of the third ward enjoyed an address by the Rev. M. L. Pontius on "The Problems of Childhood," at the regular meeting Thursday afternoon at the Franklin school. A violin duet was given by Harold Dunlap and Byron Carpenter, with Mrs. E. C. Carpenter, acting as accompanist. At the business session the topic of school gardens and provisions for useful birds was discussed. The meeting was closed by the singing of "Illinois." A representative of the Keystone View company was present and demonstrations were given of the stereopticon and projectoscope for school use. By a vote of the association an appropriation was made for dues in the Illinois congress of mothers and the organization will continue the membership begun last year.

In speaking on child welfare and the problems connected therewith Mr. Pontius said that the child of the present is to be the man or woman of the future and pointed out the civic, industrial, social, educational and religious responsibilities for which the child must be prepared by teachers and parents. "Only a short-sighted community would lose interest in the welfare of the child," said the speaker. Among additional facilities needed by this city Mr. Pontius mentioned a sufficiency of municipal play grounds, garden clubs for school children and a detention home for juvenile offenders. "There is no reason," said he, "why a child should ever be compelled to spend a night in prison with old and hardened offenders."

An Old Aphorism

Early to bed and early to rise,
Makes a man healthy, wealthy, and wise.

But to try this plan and nothing more,
Would make a farce of this metaphor.
For if you'd be healthy you must eat,
A liberal diet of good, fresh meat.

Your health is essential to wisdom and wealth,
Which makes every man consider himself.

When it comes to the kind of meat; and plan

To get it fresh from the Butcher Man.

any conflict that might come will be the result of aggression by a Mexican force.

Will Continue Pursuit of Villa
Until ordered to act otherwise, General Pershing will continue uninterrupted and without material change of plan his pursuit of Villa but he will also be expected to carry out General Funston's orders issued today to look closely after the guarding of his lines of communication and investigate carefully all Mexican troop movements in his vicinity, whether they be the movements of Villa troops or those of the de facto government.

General Funston said late today that he had ordered scouts to watch for the forces of General Arnulfo Gomez, reported yesterday to be preparing to move southeast toward Casas Grandes with the ostensible intention of joining in the pursuit of Villa. From the direction which army officers thought that Gomez would take, if he does move, it was pointed out the Mexican general could cut the American line of communication.

In State of Anticipation.
EL PASO, Texas, April 13.—El Paso was in a state of intense anticipation tonight. What Washington would do was the question on every lip and was so absorbing a subject of speculation that everything else faded into insignificance. The news of the clash at Parral between American soldiers and Mexicans was followed by reports of serious rioting at other points in Chihuahua, but in none of these other incidents were American soldiers said to be involved. The riots were said to be due principally to economic conditions and not political. The scarcity of food in the cities of northern Mexico has been growing more pronounced and in many places the masses are said to be practically on the brink of starvation. The worst rioting was reported far to the south in Aguas Calientes, capital of the state of that name. Food riots in which big mobs took part and which have been going on spasmodically for the last two days were described in a message received from a mining concern with large interests in Aguas Calientes. The message said rioting had been carried on extensively.

As far as this section of the border is concerned the news of Carranza's request for the withdrawal of the troops has not caused any open disturbance. Juarez maintained its customary placid attitude and the Mexicans on both sides of the river seemed far less excited than the Americans.

Undisturbed by the day's developments, El Paso business concerns sent another train load of supplies to Casas Grandes over the Mexico Northwestern railroad. The supplies which will find their way into the hands of field base quartermasters, included three cars of oats, four cars of gasoline and two of commissary goods.

REPORTS CASUALTIES
BELOW TURK FIGURE.
London, April 13.—Lieutenant General Sir Percy Lake, commander of the British forces in Mesopotamia states in report received here today that the number of British troops killed or wounded in the attack on the Turkish positions at Sanayya April 9th, was much below the figure 3,000 given in the Turkish official statement of April 11th.

MAKE THREE MORE ARRESTS
New York, April 13.—Three more arrests were made tonight in connection with the alleged conspiracy to destroy ships carrying war munitions to the entente allies by placing bombs in their cargoes. Warrants, it was announced, are out for two others, thus involving in all, five persons.

DISARM MANY MEXICANS.
Columbus, N. M., April 13.—Many Mexicans along the Mexican line of march in Mexico have been disarmed by the United States forces according to arrivals at the border tonight. General J. J. Pershing it was said has regarded this step as necessary as a protection for his command.

CARRANZA IN MEXICO CITY.
MEXICO CITY, April 13.—General Venustiano Carranza, accompanied by a number of his cabinet officers and other high officials in the government arrived in the outskirts of the city this afternoon. The train bearing the party were halted near the suburbs of Tlalcapantla, eight miles distant from the city proper which will be entered by them tonight.

A LESSON

Nothing hard about it either. So simple it resolves itself into this: If you have a Willard Battery to begin with, take proper care of it, and rely on the real service behind it, your starting and lighting problems are solved.

If on the contrary you commit yourself to the tender mercies of a cheap battery, your days of satisfaction are numbered.

Proper care includes distilled water and hydrometer reading at regular intervals. Willard Service means free monthly inspection, expert advice, and thorough battery knowledge. Are you getting it? If not drop in and get a FREE inspection card.

STRANGE AMBITIONS

"Hiram Hockaday is anxious to be appointed chief of police this spring," said the horse doctor. "Of course that's no news, for Hiram has been after that job for fifteen years, but he thinks he'll land it this time."

"The fact that we speak of our only officer as chief of police shows that we are humorists," said the village patriarch. "There is something amusing in the idea of a lonely policeman staggering around under such a gorgeous title."

"I never could understand why Hiram is so anxious to get the job. As things stand now, he is a 'cousinably popular man, and nobody shows any eagerness to throw bricks at him; but if he is appointed marshal, he won't have a friend on the town-site in six months. In a large town a man may hold down a police job without stirring up public indignation, but in a small burg, where we all know each other, and where sensations are so few that a dog-fight will draw the merchant princes, the policeman can't expect to have any friends."

"If a man is arrested in a city, the fact occasions no comment. It isn't even mentioned in the newspapers, unless his crime is worth while. But an arrest in a small town is a most exciting business, and everybody suspends work, and it is discussed for six or seven months. The man who has once been locked in the village cooler can never live it down. It may eventually be determined in court that his record is like the driven snow, but that will make no difference. Years afterward he will be referred to as a jailbird, and our leading citizens won't want to be seen with him in public."

"When I was in the hay and feed business I was arrested once by an alecky marshall for letting my chickens run loose. When I had my hearing before the cad, I established the fact that I had always been careful about keeping my hens in captivity, and they got loose on that one occasion because the wind blew the fence down. The learned jurist was a fair-minded man, and he rebuked the marshall for arresting me, and said that I was fully vindicated. Notwithstanding this, a lot of my best customers quit buying their pay of me, and they never did trade with me again. They seemed to regard me as a desperado who had escaped the penitentiary by a fluke."

"I have a good many friends in this town, and they all took my part, and made life unpleasant for that officious functionary who pinched me. The small town policeman is up against that sort of thing all the time. His every official action makes him new enemies. No pleasant duties ever confront him, everything he has to do is disagreeable, yet a man like Hiram, presumably sane, is suffering to wear a tin helmet and shield."

MADRIGAL CLUB CONCERT.

The annual concert of the College Madrigal club will occur on Saturday evening, April 15, in the college auditorium at 8 o'clock.

The club will have the assistance of the college orchestra which will lay several groups of solos and the accompaniment for the "At the Loister Gate," by Greig, which forms the piece de resistance of the program. This is an early work of Greig's being number twenty in hisopus numbers and was written shortly after his return from Italy whither he had gone at the bidding of Franz Liszt. Liszt had been almost so first to appreciate Greig's great and peculiar talent and had greatly encouraged him in his ambitions.

As a token of his gratitude to his great patron, Greig wrote this work to a poem of Bjornstjerne Bjornson, and dedicated it to Liszt. While displaying all of the peculiar traits of Greig's muse, it is fresher and more vigorous than his later compositions are wont to be. The work is written for soprano and alto solos and chorus of women's voices with accompaniments for orchestra, piano, organ and harp. At this performance the solos will be sung by Miss Lazelle and Mrs. Hartmann.

The entrance to the Princess Cafe has been improved with a slope which prevents the awkward stubtoe arrangement at first endured. It is now very agreeable.

HALF CENTURY MARK REACHED TODAY BY JACKSONVILLE DAILY JOURNAL

PAPER FOUNDED FIFTY YEARS AGO BY COL. SMITH
AND J. J. IRONMONGER

Office First Located in North Main Street Building—Predecessor of Weekly Appeared Thirty-Five Years Earlier—History Written By Mr. Ensley Moore in 1881 Brought Down to Date—Paper Has Started Many Workers in Newspaper Field.

Today is the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Jacksonville Daily Journal. It was thirty-five years earlier that the predecessor of the Weekly edition of the Journal appeared. Such anniversaries are not common occurrences with newspapers and a glance backward thru the years shows many facts in connection with the paper which are worthy of comment.

In 1881 Mr. Ensley Moore wrote a history of the Journal commemorating the golden anniversary of the founding and the article was published at that time. This interesting historical sketch is today republished together with another history also prepared by Mr. Moore in which the life and growth of the Journal are traced from the first to the present. It is a happening of some importance in itself that the same pen which wrote the Journal's story thirty-five years ago is still held firmly and fluently in hand.

A Half Century of Existence in the Athens of the West

The Most Complete History of This Paper and Its Predecessors Ever Published

The Editorial, Proprietorial and Location Changes of 50 Years

This Paper a Training School for Other Journals

Also a Political Power, and Its Editors So Recognized

The following interesting and valuable historical sketch has been prepared for the Journal by Ensley Moore, Esq., of our city.

Editor Journal:
Fire seems to be an enemy to every thing destined to long life. This is true of cities, as is well known, and it is probably the case with our longest lived and most successful newspapers.

The Journal is no exception to this rule for it, and the predecessors of the present form have been at least once tried by the elemental test. As London, or Chicago, or San Francisco, has risen in new and better shape from ashes, so the Journal has lived and grown.

But the very test of its survival also makes a perfect history extremely difficult to be written, owing to loss of files.

Many incomplete sketches have been published, and this is not so full or accurate as is desirable, but it contains new matter and fuller details.

The Weekly Journal originated in the Illinois Patriot, which was first published about December 20, 1831. Jas. G. Edwards, since removed to Burlington, Iowa, and now dead, occupied the editorial chair until 1837.

In 1837, after having passed thru some changes, the paper was called the Illinoisian, being published by Col. John J. Hardin, A. H. Buckner and Josiah M. Lucas. This management continued one year, with Col. Hardin and Mr. Buckner as editors. They then withdrew as writers, but their names were carried at the head of columns until about 1839.

Mr. Josiah M. Lucas then became sole editor and proprietor in name, as he had for some time been in fact. He was a native of Maryland, who came to Pekin in 1836 and published a newspaper there, in connection with J. Albert Jones, since of Springfield. Mr. Jones was editor at Pekin, and they soon sold out, whereupon Lucas came to Jacksonville.

During their stay in Pekin a young man named R. B. Mitchell came into the office of Lucas & Jones to learn to print.

Mr. Lucas continued in control of the Illinoisian until about 1843, when he was elected recorder of Morgan county, which office he resigned.

He was re-elected that same year and retired from the Illinoisian. Since then Mr. Lucas has held federal offices in Washington City and has been United States Consul at several important points. He is now a resident at St. Louis, Mo., a man of handsome countenance, elegant manners, wide experience, high intelligence and possessed of means.

Wm. C. Swett succeeded the retiring publisher and changed the name of the paper to the Morgan Journal, with Wm. H. Sigler editor. John B. Shaw also edited the paper for a short period in 1847. It should have been remarked before that the paper was an advocate of the Whig party.

S. S. Brooks, a well known Democrat, edited a paper here, which suspended in 1839. It was revived about 1840 by A. V. Putnam, and again suspended in 1843, when the material of that establishment was purchased by Mr. Swett, of the Journal, and used by him.

In 1845 Russel B. Mitchell purchased the half of the material which had been bought from the Democrat office, and Mitchell took his departure for Bloomington, Ill., where he established the McLean Gazette, which was the origin of the present Bloomington Pantagraph. Mr. Mitchell had followed Josiah M. Lucas here from Pekin, in April, 1839, and, after many changes and wanderings R. B. Mitchell is today employed in the Journal establishment, thus connecting us by another link with the old times before "Tip and Tyler" ran. Mr. Mitchell is a native of Madison county, Ohio, and came to Pekin in 1831, coming here, as noted above, in 1839. Associated here with Mr. Mitchell as typos in those long gone days were Jas. M. Ruggles, who was a well known person afterward; and Stephen Whitehurst, who went to Shelbyville, and became quite prominent.

Dr. E. R. Roe, who had been a professor in Shurtleff College, succeeded Mr. Swett as owner and editor of the Morgan Journal. Dr. Roe has since been county, or circuit, clerk of McLean county; and has for eight years been United States marshal of the southern district of Illinois. He is now a resident of Springfield, Ill.

Dr. Roe was succeeded in the proprietorship of the Morgan Journal by Paul Selby, who had Mr. A. C. Clayton associated with him at one time. Selby and Clayton had been students at Illinois College, and the former wrote for the newspaper some time before becoming interested in it. Mr. Clayton was a practical printer, and has since resided at Jerseyville. He now has a job office in St. Louis.

Paul Selby conducted the Journal during the hot, exciting times of "Kansas-Nebraska," and other discussions preliminary to the war, and he made it a Republican newspaper.

Joseph J. Ironmonger became a printer in the Journal office, with Selby & Clayton, in 1858. The office was at that time over B. F. Stevenson's store, now the "Standard" store.

Mr. Selby has since been employed editorially, upon the State Journal, Quincy Whig, served on a Minnesota paper, and is now one of the proprietors of the State Journal, besides holding the lucrative position of postmaster at Springfield. He has fought a long fight, seen the triumph of principles that he advocated at personal risk, and deserves his success.

W. H. Colline, a former minister, and a graduate of Illinois College, bought out Mr. Selby about September, 1858. He changed the name of the paper, then an eight column weekly, to Jacksonville Journal.

It was during Mr. Collins' ownership that the office was burned out of it home. The scattered material and books were moved into some of the upper rooms nearly opposite the Park House, and the Morgan Journal continued at a new stand, in McDonald's Block, on North Main street, built especially for Mr. Collins' use.

Mr. Collins left the paper September 24, 1861, to accept a chaplaincy in the army. He afterwards became a captain of volunteers, went to Quincy, became a plow manufacturer, is now sound in body, witty in speech, and, probably, plethora of purse—always welcomed by his friends in this city.

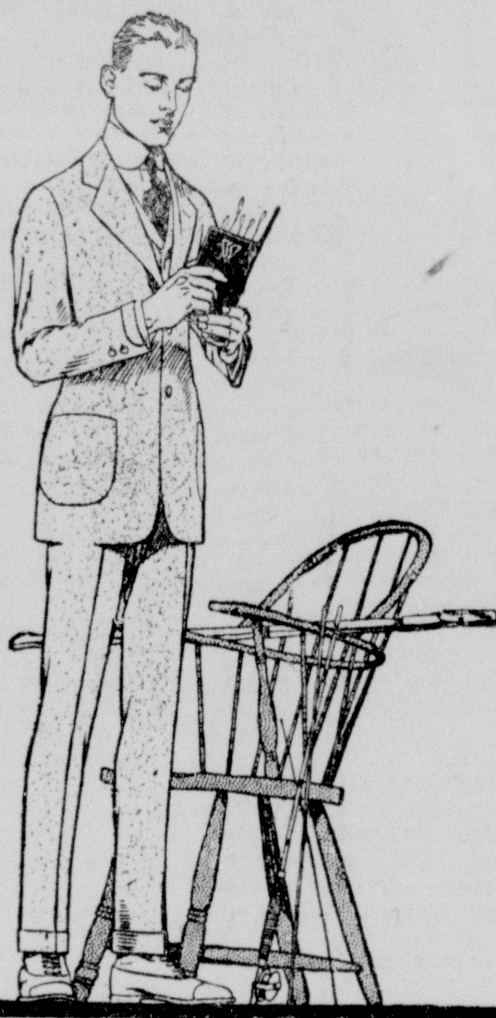

Mr. Collins in his valedictory, announced that he left the business management in the hands of Mr. W. C. Brown.

H. Barden soon became the publisher. Barden continued publication until November 17, 1864. Hon. H. J. Atkins, Mr. Wm. W. Jones, and perhaps others, acted as editors under Mr. Barden's management.

Mr. Atkins was a brilliant young

USE "TIZ" FOR SORE, TIRED, ACHING FEET

No more puffed-up, burning, sweaty, calloused feet or corns.

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

Get a 25 cent box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel. You can wear shoes a size smaller if you desire.

A CHILD'S TONGUE SHOWS IF LIVER OR BOWELS ARE ACTIVE

If Cross, Feverish, Sick, Bilious, give Fruit Laxative at Once.

Every mother realizes after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without gripping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue. Mother! If coated give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat, sore, has stomach ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember a good "inside cleanser" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here, so don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."—Adv.

MORNING GLANCES.

The Giants turned the tables on the champions of the National league yesterday by winning by a score of 2 to 0. The game was a duel between Tresau and Mayer and each yielded six hits. The break did not come until the ninth inning when Doyle singled and took third when Fletcher beat out a bunt. Luderus pegged into left field trying to catch Doyle at the third corner and Larv scored. Fletcher took second on the error and scored on Merkle's single.

Cincinnati beat the Cubs Thursday by a score of 8 to 3. The Reds batted hard and the Cubs contributed errors which aided materially in the scoring. The tribe of Herzog gathered a total of thirteen hits while Dale held the Cubs to eight, which were scattered. Flack got two of the Cubs hits, one a double.

Babe Adams, the hero of the world's series between Pittsburgh and Detroit several years ago and also the opponent of Rube Marquard when the Pirates and Giants broke the National league records by playing a twenty-one inning game, held St. Louis to one hit Thursday. The game was a great contest until the seventh inning when Pittsburgh scored all of their runs.

The world's champions showed their class Thursday by winning easily from Philadelphia by a score of 8 to 2. Philadelphia used three pitchers who proved easy and Barry and Gardner ran wild on the bases.

The White Sox won from Detroit yesterday by a score of 8 to 6. The Sox were leading by seven runs when the ninth inning started. Then Detroit got to hitting Danforth and before they were retired five runs were put over. Cobb cleared the bases with a double in this session.

Happy Felsch playing the center garden for the White Sox made two of Chicago's runs and two of their hits.

Morton after holding St. Louis safe for seven innings weakened in the eighth and allowed St. Louis to score four runs and won. Up to that time he had St. Louis beat, 1 to 0.

lawyer from Maine, who was afterward member of the Constitutional convention of 1870, and died soon after.

Wm. W. Jones was a well known Jacksonville boy, son of Henry Jones M. D., and a young man of much literary taste and promise. He edited the Journal during the political campaign of 1864, and was afterwards an assistant editor of the Illinois State Journal. He died in that position, in September, 1867.

When Mr. Barden left the paper his last issue was a seven column sheet.

Ironmonger and Mendenhall bought out the establishment at the time Mr. Barden retired, and, both being practical printers, put the paper and office upon a business basis, improving the appearance of the sheet. Mr. J. J. Ironmonger had begun his typographical life in the Evening News office, St. Louis, serving two years, and continued it in the Morgan Journal office with Mr. Selby, going afterward to Peoria, whence he returned with Mr. Amos A. Mendenhall, to become a proprietor. The latter had been foreman of the Peoria Transcript office, and was an experienced printer. He withdrew from the Journal in about a year, and went, eventually, to Lincoln, Nebraska, where he is now one of the proprietors of the Nebraska State Journal.

Ironmonger and Mendenhall enlarged the paper to eight columns April 6, 1865.

Col. George P. Smith became associated with Mr. Ironmonger, and editor of the Journal about this time in 1865. Under Ironmonger and Company the Journal took a great step forward and became a political power. April 14, 1866, began the publication of the Daily Journal, with G. P. Smith as editor; Mr. David M. Swales being foreman of the news room. He is now foreman of the printing office of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb.

The first daily was first printed on a Washington hand press, and Mr. Swales was the rapid pressman.

In its first issue the firm advertised for a local editor of the paper, and Frank Mitchell was appointed. Mr. Mitchell was a son of B. F. Mitchell, formerly principal of the Female Academy from 1859 to 1865. Frank began work about April 17, 1869, also acting as night editor for a time.

A drum cylinder power press was purchased and the paper issued thereon after it had been issued about two months. Incidentally it may be mentioned at starting the steam press, as its first sheet came from the press, there were present, G. P. Smith and J. J. Ironmonger, R. B. Mitchell, John Olverson pressman, John K. Lathrop and Enslay Moore.

The young daily was a small, unpretentious sheet, compared with its present size and appearance, but Jacksonville had a daily, and that daily has lived!

As before stated, Frank Mitchell became local editor, and his facile pen and keen intelligence were employed about six months when he went to Missouri, where he became an American Sunday School missionary, and is now a Presbyterian minister in Callaway county. Among Mr. Mitchell's special associates was Charles M. Eames. It was, perhaps, owing to the circumstance that Eames succeeded Mitchell as local editor. Mr. Eames resigned in 1867, to become city editor of the reorganized Quincy Daily Whig. He was succeeded in August, 1867, by Mr. L. B. Glover, then about 21 years of age, as local of the Journal. Under Ironmonger & Co., the Journal increased in job work, and July 19, 1866, the Weekly was enlarged to nine columns. Soon after this Mr. Ironmonger retired from the Journal and purchased the Franklin job office from Franklin J. Martin. Mr. Ironmonger, in partnership with Mr. H. B. Funk, established the Jacksonville Independent, April 29, 1869, Ironmonger withdrawing from the paper, but continuing in the job department, soon after. They were located in Ayers block at the time, but Mr. Ironmonger now runs his job office in his own building, on East State street, nearly opposite this office.

Mr. Wm. T. Davis had charge of the job rooms when Mr. Ironmonger withdrew.

About the time Ironmonger sold out of the Journal the United States government imposed an income tax upon everybody, the names of payers being published. Col. Smith was now sole proprietor of the Journal establishment, and L. B. Glover as local editor, and Mr. Robert Bradbury in charge of the job department. Osevant students of the list of income payers soon saw that the newspaper business appeared to be getting profitable, for Col. Smith reported a handsome income. It was, therefore, not difficult for the gallant Colonel to dispose of his property at a large price.

Col. Smith was a native of Virginia, an original Republican in that state, a fine speaker and ambitious of political successes. He sold Chapin & Glover the paper, and emigrated to Kansas.

Capt. Horace Chapin and L. B. Glover became proprietors April 14, 1869, Mr. Glover being editor. Enslay Moore became their local editor for a short time. He was subsequently local and assistant editor of the Jacksonville Independent.

Mr. Glover's management was noted, perhaps, most for the development of the job department of the office, with Mr. Bradbury, who has ever since continued in that capacity as foreman.

Mr. Glover was but 23 years of age when he became editorial proprietor, and Capt. Chapin was then postmaster of this city. Capt. Chapin had lived at Chapin, Morgan county, before the war; he entered the army and lost a leg at Chickamauga, after which he made Jacksonville his home. Edward Dunn, afterward city attorney, succeeded Moore as local editor. He was followed in turn by Jarvis C. Shaw, formerly of the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, and Shaw gave place to George N. Loomis, all during Chapin & Glover's ownership.

Mr. Glover sold his interest to Mr. H. R. Hobart of Chicago, in April, 1874, Capt. Chapin remaining with the firm. Mr. Wm. L. Fay became foreman of the news room under Chapin & Glover, a place he still fills in a creditable manner. L. B. Glover then went to Chicago, and in connection with Major George M. McConnell and John M. Dandy, started the Saturday Evening Herald, of which Glover and Dandy are now the proprietors.

Horace R. Hobart was an experienced newspaper man of metropolitan views and independence. As editor and manager, he made the Journal more of a literary sheet, and also took an active part in local politics on some occasions. He improved the appearance of his paper, changing the weekly to an eight page form, and put it on a good business basis. George N. Loomis was his local editor.

Hon. Milton F. Simmons, formerly of Mexico, Mo., bought out Mr. Hobart in April, 1875, and Mr. Simmons became editor, Loomis continuing as local.

H. R. Hobart returned to Chicago, where he found a good thing in the Railway Age, of which he is now an editor, and he is also a "city father" of Hyde Park.

Capt. Chapin sold his interest in the Journal, April, 1876, to Mr. C. M. Eames. Mr. Simmons continued as editor, with Mr. Eames as city editor. The latter, after leaving Quincy, had been a bookseller on his own account, and afterwards in the firm of Eames, Ward & Brother, of Marble Block. Mr. Eames enlarged the city department, and made it of decided moral tone, in strong contrast to the light and careless character of too much localism. Mr. Simmons was a lawyer and editor by profession, a shrewd business man and a Christian gentleman. He maintained the high editorial tone of the paper, and made himself respected in political matters.

About this time Mr. James S. Hambaugh became connected with the business department of the paper, in which position he still continues. Mr. Hambaugh is a gentleman of experience in his line, editorially as well as otherwise, and is well known for his urbanity by our business men.

Simmons and Eames removed the Journal establishment, which had found its quarters on North Main Street, crowded and unsatisfactory, to its present location and spacious rooms, in Mather's marble front building on East State street.

In September, 1878, Mr. Simmons withdrew from the firm, he going with Capt. Chapin and Mr. Paul Selby into proprietorship of the Illinois State Journal.

Mr. Eames then became sole proprietor and managing editor. He secured the services of Hon. John Moses, late of Winchester, now of Springfield, as political writer, with George N. Loomis as city editor.

Mr. Eames made special departments of religious, temperance, secret societies, and neighborhood news, and the Journal rapidly increased in circulation. In political matters Mr. Eames has been honored by being sent to the Illinois state convention of 1880, and by that body he was sent to the National Republican convention of 1880, in Chicago.

From the time he bought the half interest in 1876 the daily has had Associated Press dispatches and the weekly has been increased by a two-page supplement crowded, usually, with neighborhood, or city news. Mr. Loomis resigned his position in March, 1880, to become editor of the Quincy Argo, and he is now engaged upon a Minneapolis, Minn., paper. He was succeeded by Mr. Hiram H. Palmer, who retired this summer to take editorial charge of the Roodhouse Journal. Judge Moses was succeeded as political writer by Capt. N. C. A. Rayhouse, formerly of the Lafayette, Ind., Journal. This department is now conducted by Mr. Eames in person. In the city editor's place is found Mr. Richard Yates, whose nose for news and swift pencil takes in the daily situation.

Mr. Charles McPherson, as pressman, assisted by Mr. John Joaquin, have been for some time employed in the press room, and their faithfulness deserves mention.

Thus the changing life of a newspaper has been followed, thru half a century of human record.

Jacksonville has grown from a prairie town to a beautiful city, and the Journal has kept step with the growing surroundings.

The tale is told, and the fifty years slip away into the past, as the weary hours of night have tolled themselves into the coming of another day.

So with farewell to the past, the Journal halts the future, entering upon its second half century strong with years of experience, ready to chronicle yet still grander things, and to help yet more in developing dear Jacksonville, home of its birth and life!

A CONTINUED STORY

It is somewhat of an undertaking to take up a pen laid down over thirty four years ago, but it must be done, to bring the story of the Jacksonville Journal to date.

As traced in the first history of the paper, the Journal had its beginning back in 1831, in the Illinois Patriot, which was first issued about December 20th, of that year. Any one conversant with newspaper life knows that many of the greatest papers in the land had an entirely different name at first, and in after years, from the name under which they now sail so proudly. This is true of the St. Louis Republic, which runs back to about 1808, when it began as the Missouri Gazette, afterwards the Republican, and now the Republic. But to its great rival, the Globe-Democrat, it often becomes, in derision, "Old 1808". Thus the Journal of today came down the line of ancestry sketched in the first article, and is now one of the oldest newspapers in continuous succession in the state of Illinois or west of Ohio. It is something upon which the paper can pride itself, and it is a credit to a community which demanded something to read from its earliest days.

But age is not the only asset of the Journal. It has been a power in the state for Freedom, for Education, for Religion and for general development. Chicago had no paper when the Journal opened its eyes as the Patriot, nor had Chicago much of a paper, now published under the same name, if any at all, before the Morgan Journal began the career to which the Jacksonville Journal today points with pride. Many people nowadays imagine Chicago was a beginner of things in Illinois. This is far from the truth, for the little town requiring a fort to protect it, was scarcely noticeable until after Kaskaskia, Shawneetown, Vandalia, Jacksonville and Springfield were places of rising power and helpfulness. Illinois was a state fifteen years before Chicago was known as a place—aside from Fort Dearborn, and its immediate dependencies. Even then Jacksonville had to help drive Black Hawk away.

Before proceeding with the later history of the Journal, reversion should be made to one point not sufficiently brought out in the sketch, in 1881.

As therein narrated, Paul Selby was editor from 1833 to about 1852. Those were the days when the hot fires of civil strife were beginning to burn, and those were days which showed the stuff that was in men of Jacksonville in matters of political principle.

They also showed the leadership and social advancement in the same. Eatemann & Selby's History of Illinois tells: "Anti-Nebraska Editorial convention, a political body which convened at Decatur, Feb. 22, 1856, pursuant to the suggestion of the Morgan Journal, then a weekly paper published at Jacksonville, for the purpose of formulating a policy in opposition to the principles of the Kansas-Nebraska bill. Paul Selby was chosen chairman. The convention adopted a platform and recommended the calling of a State Convention at Bloomington, May 29th, following. Abraham Lincoln was present and participated in the consultations of the committees.

Bloomington convention of 1856. Altho not formally called as such, this was the first Republican State convention held in Illinois, out of which grew a permanent organization in the state. It nominated the first State ticket, W. H. Bissell for Governor. The ticket was all triumphantly elected, and that was the beginning of Republican control in Illinois, no opposition governor being elected till 1892, and but one since. Abraham Lincoln was present at the convention, and made a speech which is described as his most wonderful utterance upon the platform.

Paul Selby became the Nestor of Republican editors in the state, and wrote upon political and historical subjects until his death, March 19, 1913, aged 88 years.

And this newspaper continued to be a power in State and National politics.

The first copy of the Daily Jacksonville Journal, as stated before, was issued April 14, 1866, and this is therefore the fiftieth anniversary of that auspicious event.

The new paper was a baby in size, having only five columns, and proportionately short, in a day when "blanket sheets" were still in vogue. There was only one column of reading matter on the first page, and less than that on the fourth and last page.

On the second and editorial page was the following leader, headed "Salutatory." With our politest how to the good citizens of Jacksonville, believing we will receive a cordial welcome, we this morning make our appearance as a Daily Journal.

"One more new claimant for Human fraternity. Swelling the flood that sweeps On to eternity.

Tooth Loose?
Watch out for Pyorrhea!

When you find a tooth that gives back and forth even just a little, see your dentist at once.

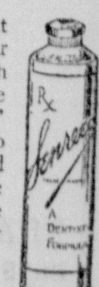

He will find conditions which you might overlook. He will find a gum recession, even though slight, where the gums have pulled away from the teeth. And he will tell you that you have the dread disease pyorrhea.

From pyorrhea come by far the greater part of all tooth troubles. Unless treated and checked, it will result not only in the shrinking and malformation of your gums and of the bony structure into which your teeth are set, but in the loss of the teeth themselves.

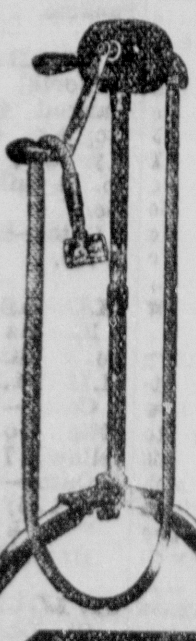

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senreco Tooth Paste. Senreco combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

But Senreco does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiteness distinctive of Senreco alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senreco treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25c is sufficient for 6 weeks' daily treatment. Get Senreco of your druggist today; or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address The Senreco Remedies Company 503 Union Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

For the Family Medicine Chest

Green Bay, Wis., Mrs. Wm. F. Eubolz says:
"I always use Foley's Honey and Tar for our children as it quickly breaks up their colds with no bad after effects, and they like to take it."

In this season of coughs, colds and croup, every family medicine chest should be supplied with a good cough medicine that can be relied upon when needed.

Such a family cough syrup is Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. This standard medicine has been on the market for years and in many sections was found in every home in the days when doctors were not so handy and when money was scarce.
Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is an excellent medicine for coughs, colds, raw or inflamed throat, hoarseness, tightness and soreness of the chest, croup and whooping cough. It is an absolute safe remedy, containing only healing ingredients, and free from any harmful drugs.

MASON COUNTY ADVISOR GIVES LEGUME SUGGESTIONS

Says Much Damaged Clover and Alfalfa Can Be Saved.

Not since 1912 has winter wheat, clover and alfalfa been damaged to the extent it has this past winter.
Some fields in certain sections of this county are almost totally killed. In other sections where fields were protected the damage is only slight.
Wheat that was drilled in the cowpeas stubble is as a rule damaged the least and gives promise of a fair crop.
This is also true of wheat and alfalfa that was covered with straw and manure last winter.

Clover and alfalfa that was cut so late last fall that no growth was made afterwards to serve as protection is badly winter killed, while on the other hand alfalfa and clover that were allowed to go thru the winter with plenty of growth came thru in fine shape.

Better Conditions May Come
First, in regard to winter wheat and alfalfa, we caution the farmers in Mason county against forming a judgment too hastily. Many times, this early in the season, winter wheat often appears hardly worth sowing, but after a few weeks of favorable weather it comes out and finally makes a fair crop.

This is also true of alfalfa and clover. Many fields that appeared to be dead two weeks ago are now giving promises of good stand and with favorable weather should yield good crops of hay.

On fields where ground has become quite solid and alfalfa seems very backward, it may be to advantage to cut the ground with a disk in order to loosen it and allow the air to get into the soil. To do this, weight the disk and flant it so it will loosen the ground, but not enough to cut off the crowns on the alfalfa. On new alfalfa fields, where small patches have been killed by standing water, one should disk and reseed. In re-seeding, be sure that seed is well covered as this late in the season, unless the seed is well covered, one cannot expect a good stand.

Where the stand of grass in the meadow has been badly damaged, and it is desired to continue this particular field in order to provide hay or pasture, new seed should be drilled in at once. Drill in just enough new seed to thicken the stand. Best to cover clover and small amount of timothy. Be sure to get new seed well covered, because unless a good stand is secured, the new seedling will be ruined by weeds.

NEW SYSTEM IT IS SAID WILL AFFECT SHIPPERS

Proposed Ante Mortem Inspection
Meets with Opposition—Chairman of State Board Threatens to Place Same into Effect by May 1.

East St. Louis, April 13.—Illinois live stock producers, feeders and shippers have suffered much inconvenience and losses during the past two years and they are facing a further handicap if the plans of the Illinois Live Stock Board, as announced by Chairman B. J. Shanley are put into effect.

Mr. Shanley was at the St. Louis National Stock Yards last week and held a conference with a committee representing the St. Louis Live Stock Exchange. Mr. Shanley presented the outline of a new system of ante-mortem inspection by state authorities, which he says the Board aims to place in effect here, May 1st.

Mr. Shanley says that the same ante-mortem inspection system will also be installed at Chicago and Peoria as quickly as possible.

In brief the proposed system of the Illinois Live Stock Board means that the method of handling and selling live stock at this and other live stock markets of Illinois will be completely revolutionized.
Under the proposed system no stock can be sold to packers or order buyers without first being subject to ante-mortem inspection by state veterinarians.

The St. Louis Live Stock Exchange through its special committee, informed Mr. Shanley that it is utterly opposed to the proposed new system of state ante-mortem inspection, believing that it would work a great hardship on producers, feeders, and shippers of live stock in the state of Illinois.

Mr. Shanley's reason for putting in his new elaborate state inspection system, so he claims, is to prevent any diseased stock from being shipped from Illinois stock yards and sold for state consumption in outer establishments that have no federal inspection.

If this is the only object to be attained a feasible and very simple method that could be employed would be for the state to establish a system of gate inspection to all stock yards of Illinois and permit no animal to be shipped out for slaughter that were condemned by state inspectors.

This is a vital question to Illinois stockmen. In fact every producer, feeder and shipper in the state is concerned. All of our readers who are interested should get in touch with their commission house here at once. Plan to co-operate with the St. Louis Live Stock Exchange and emphatically protest against the proposed state inspection system, which Mr. Shanley says they will put into effect about May 1st.

Flowing Up Clover and Wheat.

In various parts of the county farmers are plowing up clover and wheat fields which they believe have been damaged so much by frost that it will be more profitable to put in some other crop. A number of men

STOCK MARKET WEAKNESS CAUSES SHARP DECLINE IN WHEAT VALUE

Quotations Close Heavy 2½ to 3½ Cents Net Lower—Other Leading Staples Show Setback.

Chicago, April 13.—Stock market weakness reflecting strained relations of the United States with Mexico and Germany had a good deal to do today with a sharp decline that took place in the value of wheat. Quotations closed heavy 2½ to 3½¢ net lower.
With May at $1.10½ and July at $1.14½ to $1.14¢. Other leading staples too, all showed a setback—corn ½¢ to 17½¢, oats ½ to ¾¢ and provisions 2½ to 17½¢.

Suspension of Holland-American steamship sailings exercised a direct influence on the wheat market, increasing to a perceptible extent the downward tendency of prices, especially in the last part of the day.
The bulls had an additional handicap in the circumstance that extreme estimates of reduction in spring wheat acreage were being substantially modified.

Corn gave way with wheat and as a result of the lack of shipping demand. Smallness of receipts failed to act as an offset. Oats were partly sustained by moderate sales to the seaboard. On the other hand, progress in seeding continued to favor the bears.

Provisions advanced at first owing to higher prices on hogs. Later, however, the weakness of grain became too pronounced to be ignored and a reaction took place with packers conspicuous in the selling side.

believe that some farmers are a little too hasty in deciding just how much damage has been done to wheat and clover. Often at this time of year wheat and clover which seems to be in very bad condition improves to such an extent in two weeks' time that the crop is well worth leaving. This may be true in the present instance and farmers should wait until the very last moment before plowing under either wheat or clover that they wish to save.

In a number of instances oats have not yet been planted, altho it is recognized that the season is now getting late. However, instances are known locally of oats planted as late as April 9 which have brought good results.

SELLING OF STOCKS IS PERSISTENT IF NOT URGENT, FROM THE OUTSET

Market Is Thrown Into a State of Confusion by Advances Which Heightened Fears of a Rupture
With Germany.

New York, April 13.—The stock market was thrown into a state of confusion today by overnight advances which heightened fears of a rupture with Germany and additional complications with Mexico. Selling was persistent, if not urgent, from the outset and continued at increasingly lower levels almost to the end. Such support as was offered at irregular intervals exercised little effect, anal prices showing only feeble rallies.

Mexican shares were under pronounced pressure, Mexican Petroleum declining 5½ to 102½. Greene Can-diana 3½ to 46, Texas Company 3 to 189 and American Smelting 34 to 98. War shares and those of equipments and industrials which have more or less claim to that description were affected to a like extent while the automobile group was depressed even more. General Motors suffering a loss of 10 points.

United States Steel more than any other former leader contributed to the unsettlement by falling 1½ on a very large overturn.

Total sales amounted to 710,000 shares.

In the excitement attending the fall of market prices little attention seemed to be paid to the increased weakness of French and Russian exchange. The Paris check broke to 6.07½, which is believed to be without precedent in the financial relations between this country and France and rubles declined ½ to 30, representing a discount from party of about 40 per cent.

A Woman's Problem

How to Feel Well During Middle Life Told by Three Women Who Learned from Experience.

The Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, and neglect of health at this time invites disease and pain. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs. Read these letters:—

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I started the Change of Life five years ago. I always had a headache and backache with bearing down pains and I would have heat flashes very bad at times with dizzy spells and nervous feelings. After taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new person and am in better health and no more troubled with the aches and pains I had before I took your wonderful remedy. I recommend it to my friends for I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. MARGARET GRASS-MAN, 759 N. Ringgold St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Beverly, Mass.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, for nervousness and dyspepsia, when I was going through the Change of Life. I found it very helpful and I have always spoken of it to other women who suffer as I did and have had them try it and they also have received good results from it."—Mrs. GEORGE A. DUNBAR, 17 Roundy St., Beverly, Mass.

Erie, Pa.—"I was in poor health when the Change of Life started with me and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, or I think I should not have got over it as easy as I did. Even now if I do not feel good I take the Compound and it restores me in a short time. I will praise your remedies to every woman for it may help them as it has me."—Mrs. E. KISSLING, 931 East 24th St., Erie, Pa.

No other medicine has been so successful in relieving woman's suffering as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
Women may receive free and helpful advice by writing the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass. Such letters are received and answered by women only and held in strict confidence.

Room for us into your Ranks of humanity; Give us a place in your Kingdom of Vanity; Welcome the stranger with Kindly affection, Hopefully, trustfully, Not with dejection.

There were not quite four columns of reading matter on that page, only two being given to "Latest News by Telegraph."

Nearly all of the three columns, on the third page, devoted to "Local Matters" were given up to supposedly paid "ads." But there was an appeal to help the Local, who had not yet been secured. He was introduced to the editor next day or the day after, by Ensley Moore.

Not a firm advertised in that first issue of fifty years ago is in business today. The nearest are "M. P. Ayers & Co., Bankers and Exchange Dealers, Jacksonville, Illinois." E. L. Greenleaf, grocer and Weil and Brother, clothiers, and the Dangerfield tundry, had the most space.

The writer rode down North Main street one day, a good while ago, and noticed a young boy sitting with some older printers at the foot of the stairs leading up to the Journal office. It did not occur to the rider that, ere many years, that youth would become the leading owner of the Journal. But such has proved to be the case, and, while not now aged, William L. Fay, is the managing proprietor of the old paper, upon which he began regular work in 1873.

At the time the history of the Journal was written in 1881, Charles M. Eames was its editorial proprietor and manager. He conducted the paper until the fall of 1886 when he disposed of his interests to a stock company, and went to Fort Scott, Kansas, to live.

It would seem fitting here to speak of Mr. Eames' life and work. He was the son of Timothy Daight and Abby Murdock Eames, and was born in Jacksonville, Nov. 6, 1815, dying at Fort Scott, Kansas, July 31, 1887. He was the only son of his parents to become grown, and attended our public schools, and Illinois College for a time. He was a bright scholar, and well informed man. He was a reporter for the Journal in 1866, and for the Chicago Republican and State Journal in 1868, and then city editor of the Quincy Whig for a short time. He came back to this city, and was in the book business for eight years. In 1876 he became part owner of the Journal, filling in time all the editorial places, and that of business manager. He married Miss Carrie M. Hall, of Wallingford, Conn., Nov. 14, 1876, and they were the parents of Harriet, Beverly D., Chas. M. and Susan Eames.

Mr. Eames became sole proprietor of the Journal in 1878, and was active in political, temperance and religious matters. He was an elder in the First Presbyterian church, superintendent of the Sabbath school, and belonged to the Royal Templars of Temperance. He was an Odd Fellow and a Mason—being a Knight Templar. Politically a Republican, he was a delegate to the great National convention in 1880, standing for Grant. His health was never strong, but he was a continuous worker.

Mr. Eames' most notable and valuable work, perhaps, was in the "History of Jacksonville and Morgan County," which he published in 1885. It is our best reference in that time.

The Journal Company, composed at first of about forty different persons, took charge of the plant in the fall of 1886, the office being then in the J. Tabor Mathers Building, on East State street, now known as the Majestic theatre.

Up to this time the paper had had decidedly varied experiences. It had probably helped to break up more owners than it had enriched, and it was now to enter upon a period of success increasing until today, and it is still more valuable now than ever before. Probably no single person has contributed more to this achievement than the quiet, unostentatious man who has grown up from the boy seen on North Main street years ago.

The Journal Company being duly incorporated, elected the following directors: E. C. Krieger, Dr. David Prince, Chas. S. Rannels, Lyman E. Joy—still occupying the place and attending meetings—G. Scott Russell, Wm. L. Fay, and Samuel W. Nichols. The directors elected E. C. Krieger, President; W. L. Fay, Secretary, and S. W. Nichols, Treasurer. After Mr. Krieger's death, Mr. Hawes Yates became his successor, he after death, being succeeded by S. W. Nichols, for one year. Since which time W. L. Fay has been president, with his son, Wm. A. Fay, as treasurer, and J. W. Walton as secretary.

Since the stock organization took charge the plant has been moved to the spacious Journal building built by it on West State street, which it now occupies. Modern and improved machinery has been placed and replaced in the mechanical departments, and the business has been pushed for all it is worth. Fuller and better telegraphic news is received, immediately in the office at night, and the business and reportorial forces have been augmented as demanded by circumstances. The circulation of the Daily and of the Weekly has been very greatly increased, a good job business done, and the paper is going on to increased financial returns and to greater value to readers and to advertising patrons.

Any one acquainted with the inner workings of a printing office knows how much depends on the men who tirelessly work, day or night, either in the mechanical or editorial departments or in both. And those in the business office—when qualified—contribute largely to the financial success of the concern; without good financial returns turns no paper will run long and well.

The combination resulting in the present Journal company was brought about by W. L. Fay and Samuel W. Nichols, both of whom are still connected with the concern.

As stated in the original article, Mr. Fay was a practical printer and had worked his way, at that time, up to being Foreman of the News Room, and when the stock company was projected he was the indispensable party required in several ways. He entered the ownership and management at that time, and has been the indispensable man since. His quiet ways do not put him before the public as many men place themselves, but his knowledge of the conditions, business capacity, and unusually good judgment, have made him the power behind the throne, and now the main owner, and conductor.

Mr. Fay's keen insight into men and things and his remarkable judgment have enabled him to become a power in politics as well as in the office. He has also found time to travel extensively, and his position as a Mason and Knight Templar, with his good fellowship, has no doubt increased his enjoyment of the pleasures and information which travel affords.

Mr. Fay, who is a native of Jacksonville, was married to Miss Leah Plattner, of Winchester, and she has smoothed the way of life for him, and taken a high social position. They have been the parents of one son, Wm. A. Fay, now in the business department of the paper. He in turn has married and a third William is on the way to the print shop as fast as his little feet can carry him. The people who grow with establishments make them.

In the practical part of a newspaper some men are vastly important, and it would be manifestly unfair to ignore them in a historical notice.

One such was Rebt. A. Bradbury, connected with the job office as Foreman for about a third of a century. Mr. Bradbury stood at his post to the last, and laid down his position with his life, Nov. 11, 1898.

Another man for years connected with the establishment was Emil O. Mayer, Foreman of the News Room. He was employed in the establishment for twenty-eight years, nearly a quarter of a century being in the News Room. He was faithful and reliable, and he left his case for a last time—after a long and painful illness—Nov. 3, 1915. He was an Odd Fellow, Mason and member of the M. W. A. He was a member of the Baptist church.

John N. Joaquin is another of the long and faithful employees of the paper. He has been connected with it since 1868, and has worked, as boy and man, in several branches of the business. He was pressman for years and is now in charge of the Job Office. Mr. Joaquin has been prominent in politics, in fraternal organizations, and is a member of Northminster Presbyterian church.

A young man of today in the mechanical department, but one who has won promotion is Clifford Alves. He is Foreman of the News Room. Another party to be noted of and named, is Walter DeShara, telegraph operator, who translates sound into more or less sense, ready for our breakfast tables.

Frank Paradise has for many years been a compositor, and deserves mention for his long service.

As before stated, Samuel W. Nichols, another native of Illinois, was one of the originators of the present organization. He had been attached to the reportorial side under Mr. Eames, and survived the change.

He has since been a part owner and company officer, and has served for years as editor.

Mr. Nichols, as is true of Mr. Fay needs not to be introduced to Jacksonville. But as printing is "the art preservative of arts," so it is the recorder of history, and one cannot leave out important factors.

Mr. Nichols has been a business man, a world traveller, an active member of the Congregational church, and a philanthropist. In the latter line he has been especially active in connection with the hospital, in giving excursions to school children, and last but not least, in giving the pack which bears his name to the city.

Mr. Nichols married Miss Helen Storer, who died not long after marriage.

Mr. Nichols has been a student and trustee of Illinois college, and is an active member of the Congregational church. He is a Knight Templar, and member of the G. A. R. He was married to Mrs. Elizabeth Sinclair English, Jan. 15, 1915.

One of the most important features of a modern newspaper is the reporting. The Journal has been a training school for bright young men, most of whom have taken valuable and prominent positions in life.

Among those who have been engaged in getting the news have been some already mentioned in the preceding article. One of them, Richard Yates, has since been Governor of Illinois. Also of these early men have achieved more or less note or position, have been Rev. Frank Mitchell, L. B. Glover, Ensley Moore, Edward Dunn and Geo. N. Loomis.

C. H. Dunmer was employed editorially about 1886.

Of the later employees there have been Dr. Carl E. Black, S. W. Nichols, W. B. Caton, Hugh Wilson, Rev. Allen A. Tanner, Alfred E. Day, Donald C. Catlin, Samuel B. Stewart, J. W. Walton, Ora T. Fell, John Sammis, George C. Lenington, W. E. McElfresh, Edward Clifford, W. A. Evans, T. H. Wright, Roy Conley, Ralph Withee, Wm. J. Eads, Capt. E. C. Taylor, Frank W. Rucker, Geo. W. Davis and Hume T. Whitacre. Mr. Eads is now the efficient telegraph editor.

Horace H. Bancroft was city editor for some years, as is J. W. Walton, now.

The position of city editor was till lately well filled by Benjamin F. Lane, a place he held for several years.

As stated before in this story, the business department of a newspaper is very important. It is true that an army depends on commissary—to put it elegantly—so a newspaper depends upon the business office very much.

In that department the following named persons have been employed, among others, since the issue of 1881 was printed: Abner M. Upham, S. E. Stewart, J. W. Walton, Chas. Lenington, John Sammis, A. S. Loving, H. N. Kuechler, F. J. Fairbank, John Sybrant, Miss Alice Plouer and Miss Lena Mollenbrok.

These people today, with some of those mentioned in the reportorial list, are scattered in various parts of the United States, from New York to the Pacific, and one is in far off Syria.

This statement leads up to another. The Journal, largely by reason of its nearness to Illinois College has been able to secure an unusually well educated and intelligent body of men as local reporters, to the great gain of its readers. For these men, of high character and aims, have done work of much better ethical and literary quality than that usual to too many newspapers. Many papers are satisfied with a reporter with a nose for news, and more or less slang and bad treatment in furnishing his finds. Not so with the Journal, and thus its local and editorial standards of handling public affairs has been the statement of events, and editorial arguments, on a higher plane than obtains everywhere.

The Journal has been the progenitor of other papers, as the Bloomington Pantagraph, and the Jerseyville Republican, whose first editor was Col. Wm. H. Edgar, since of the Beatrice, Nebraska, Express; now resident in Chicago.

Amos H. Mendenhall, who, with J. J. Ironmonger made a business proposition, instead of a mere political hack of the Journal, went from here to the Nebraska State Journal, of Lincoln, and helped to make a success out of that paper. It made his fortune, and he died there, a few years ago.

The writer sent some letters (correspondence) to the Journal, during the year 1886.

One day, when his friend, Frank Mitchell, local editor, was in charge of the editorial page, the writer helped him out with three editorials. One of which read as follows:

"General J. H. Moore. We understand that the Union men of Macon county are going to nominate this gallant officer for Congress from their district.

We know that no more gallant officer, noble-hearted man, or able speaker could be sent than Gen. Moore.

Our readers will doubtless remember Gen. Moore as pastor of the West Charge Methodist church of this city in 1861. He raised, and was commissioned colonel of the 115th Regiment Illinois Volunteers, in 1862. Since then he has been with his regiment till its being mustered out last summer.

Colonel Moore then received the star for his heroic services to the country.

Again we would say that he is a true soldier, noble man, and firm patriot. We hope that he will receive the nomination and be elected, for no one, whom our friends of Decatur could send, would reflect more honor upon their district and the state."

In spite of the above, Gen. Moore was nominated, elected, and re-elected. It may be said that he was no relation, personally or denominationally to the writer.

So far as recalled, David M. Swales is the only attaché of the Journal in 1866 who is now living.

"FI-FI OF THE TOY-SHOP."

The rehearsals for "FI-FI" are going off with great enthusiasm. Mr. George E. Shaw, the director, considers the Jacksonville talent above that usually found in towns of this size. Two parts heretofore not filled have been provided for—Miss Irene Cox has accepted the part of Aurelia, and Mr. Warfield Brown will appear as a clown. These two are popular with Jacksonville audiences and will add to the general success.

The following ladies are chaperones for the rehearsals: Mesdames George T. Hollinger, A. Wehl, Harold Gay, H. L. Griswold, Albert Cox, Clarence York, Clark Green, Frank Munson, E. C. Carpenter, T. H. Cogswell, J. P. Coons, Louis Engel, Bernard Gause, S. W. Ingalls, E. E. Wells, Miller Weir, J. F. Claus, John Cherry, Frank Rataichak, O. P. Buße, David Reid, E. P. Cleary, A. R. Williamson, Ollie Parker, J. K. C. Pierson, Arthur Vannier, Maurice Fitch, James H. Danksin, John W. Priest, George Bradley.

REMAINS SENT TO MISSOURI. The remains of J. M. Bailey were sent to Wyconda, Mo., Thursday. The services will be held and interment made there this afternoon.

Cyrus Curtis of Waverly spent Thursday in the city on business.

You Can't Brush Or Wash Out Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.

SALVATION ARMY FUND NEAR THE $2,000 MARK

Reports Made at Supper Given Thursday night by Mayor Rodgers—Will Seek to Complete Fund.

At a supper given by Mayor Rodgers Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A. for workers in the Salvation Army campaign, announcement was made of actual receipts of $1,644.75 for the Salvation Army fund. Some reports have not yet been received and it is confidently believed that today the total will reach the $2,000 mark. There were nearly sixty people at the supper last night, a few invited guests being present with the campaign workers. Mrs. Herald's department of Grace church Ladies' Aid had charge of the preparations and an excellent supper had been prepared.

The reports of the various workers were made following the supper and the figures were as given above. A motion was made by Rev. W. E. Spooner that the gathering endorse Capt. Mace of the Salvation Army and this action was taken. The captain, who has conducted his work in Jacksonville in such a way as to win the confidence of the people, was assured that support will be given him in the present effort and that the campaign will be continued, with the expectation of securing the total sum needed.

W. J. Brady made brief remarks expressing his pleasure at being present and in behalf of the assembled company thanked the ladies for the excellent supper prepared. Mr. Brady said that it was a privilege to be identified with the work which the Salvation Army committee had in charge. When the assembly adjourned it was with the understanding that the campaign is to be continued.

A LIFE'S JOURNEY WITHOUT CHRIST SUBJECT AT GRACE M. E. CHURCH

There are Many Ways in Which the Saviour May Be Lost, Says the Rev. E. K. Towle at Revival Service—The Sermon Theme Tonight.

Speaking on the subject, "The Lost Christ," Luke 2:44, the Rev. E. K. Towle, at the Grace M. E. church revival service Thursday night, told of the different ways in which men and women may lose the influence of the Saviour in their daily life.

At the close of the service there was a conference of workers and best methods of personal work were discussed. As a solo Mr. Towle sang, "Fade, Fade Each Earthly Joy." "The Religion that Faces the Problem," will be the sermon's subject tonight. Sunday morning there will be an illustrated talk by Mr. Towle at the Sunday school hour. The sermon at the forenoon service will be directed especially to young people, and Mr. Towle will speak on "Does the American Young Man Need God?" "The Defense of the Home" will be the evening topic.

The words of the evangelist at the Thursday evening service follow in part: "They supposed him to be in the company and from the apostles we learn that suppositions are the fatal enemy of spiritual life. They mark the fatal weakness of multitudes of men and women. The power of assurance never tangles their nerves. All the farther many get is to say, 'I hope I am saved.' 'I guess Jesus is with me.' 'I am trying to live right.' The conscious power of his presence many never discern. So many never swing out with the splendid faith of Paul, saying, 'It is not I that liveth but Christ that liveth in me.'"

"Suppose he is not with you? Suppose at your journey's end he is not with you, what then? Many have lost Christ and do not realize it. Peter lost him in Calphas' hall within hearing distance of the Master's voice. Judas lost him on the way to Jerusalem, during those last precious days. Some of the people of Jacksonville have lost him even in these wonderful days of light and truth.

"The world is going to hide its face in shame some day when the vision of His glory is manifested. The world needs to see Jesus more than it needs to see anything else.

"Remember it is possible to lose Jesus. Who would have thought it, his own mother was the first to lose him. Knowledge about Jesus is taken so often for saving faith in Him. They suppose they are with Him, when they are not. Even a church member must look out. How many have lost him in some business deal, some social habit, or in some conversation.

"Many thought He was in the crowd. How many even today never get nearer to Jesus than to join the crowd which throngs Him. Many have joined the church who have not joined the Lord.

"Jesus was lost in the church. And Mary had to go back to the place where she lost Him to find Him. David had to go back to his sin and confess it and face it, before the salvation came to him again. Peter had to stand up before the Lord whom he had denied three times and confess three times that he loved Him."

PARK BOARD TALKED ABOUT AFFAIRS FOR COMING SEASON

No Funds Available for Proposed Fourth Ward Playgrounds—More Lights at Nichols Park.

The park board held a regular weekly session Thursday night and a number of matters were given consideration. Lights are to be placed on the south side of the lake at Nichols park and in some other locations as needed, the expectation being that the park will be much better lighted this year than has been true in the past. Additions were also ordered to the water system, including hydrants which are to be so placed as to be of special use in watering the flower beds. The committee which has had the grading work in charge reported some progress made but the work is not completed and the committee was continued. As the board has not sufficient funds to accomplish all the work which is desired, it was decided not to accept the offer made by Hon. Thomas Worthington for the use of certain lands in the fourth ward as a playground. The property is well located for the purpose suggested, but the board did not feel in position to accept the offer made.

It was decided not to change the playground at Nichols park as had previously been considered and it will remain on the south side of the lake. The apparatus for the first ward playground was ordered overhauled and put into condition for the coming season. Reference was made to a custodian for Duncan and Central parks but no action was taken.

TO LECTURE AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

Mrs. Harold T. Gardner will have a very interesting story to tell tonight at the Congregational church. Mrs. Gardner has been a missionary in Turkey, first going as a trained nurse after she married the Rev. Mr. Gardner, and later joined with him in his work. She has been an eye witness of the terrible Armenian massacres and has lived thru many thrilling experiences. All persons who are interested in mission work are cordially invited to be present. Undoubtedly Mrs. Gardner's address will team with interest.

SOME GOOD HOGS

Arthur Reeve, son of John I. Reeve of this city, has just sold 22 Jersey Red hogs to the Jacksonville Packing Co. at 9.25, an extra price as they were extra hogs. They were only seven to eight months old but by intelligent feeding the young man had put the porkers on two and a half pounds a day for a time. He used a variety of feed, tankage, oil meal, some milk, warm slops and the like in addition to corn the past few weeks before marketing.

FINE SHIPMENT OF HORSES.

The Alton officials have received advices that 100 loads of horses, making five trains, will be shipped from Kansas City to New York via Bloomington and the Big Four, destined for the armies of Europe. The first train of twenty loads is expected to reach Bloomington some time tonight, if there is no delay in leaving Kansas City. All of the roads are planning to give this consignment rush movement and will watch it closely to see that there is no delay. This shipment may be the forerunner of many more, and it is said that there are many thousands of horses in the western corrals which have been purchased by the agents of the European countries at war and which will move as rapidly as New York and Newport News.—Bloomington Pantagraph.
